Moscow's Korean Strategy was A Secret Even to Chinese Communists

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—U.S. observers had picked up word, prior to the Korean invasion, that the Cominform had worked out an over-all plan of attacks and revivits by satellite countries, but such an attack was not expected in Korea.

In fact, Moscow's Korean strategy was kept so secret that not even the Communist government of Mao Tse-tung in Peiping was told about it. Since then Mao has sent a stiff protest to Moscow that the action was in his sphere and he should have been informed.

On the other hand the Chinese Communist general staff was twice alerted for an invasion of Formosa, one by June 15, the other by June 20. This information leaked to U.S. intelligence—perhaps purposely, in order to divert U.S. attention away from Korea, to Formosa. If on purpose, the strategy was successful, for the chief thing MacArthur hammered at Secretary of Defense Johnson about during their Tokyo conference was Formosa. Korea was not mentioned.

Other areas which, according to this advance information, were ready for the Cominform master-squeeze were:

1. THE YUGOSLAV-BULGARIAN BORDER—Border skirmishes had increased; Bulgarian troops were massing; and it looked as if Moscow were preparing a Bulgarian attack on Tito.

2. IRAN—A "revolt" by the Tudeh pro-Communist party was either planned or else was purposely leaked to U.S. intelligence in order to divert our attention to Iran instead of Korea. In this case, Azerbaijan troops would have been used instead of the Russian army.

3. GERMANY—The East German army armed by Russia went on maneuvers in East Germany and Poland.

Satellites Shield Moscow
In all these cases, the Cominform planned to use satellite troops to do the fighting, while Moscow pushed the button.

The fact that the United States reacted so quickly and emphatically to block the Korean coup definitely surprised Moscow and may have thrown Cominform calculations off schedule.

It is obvious from various reactions picked up in Moscow that the Kremlin expected us to operate as the old League of Nations—debate, procrastinate, and do nothing.

The fact that we moved as we did, and under the United Nations, may have thrown a monkey wrench into the whole series of satellite moves. Or, on the other hand, the Cominform may now be more determined than ever to save face by carrying the schedule out.

Capital News Capsules
HATE LOBBY—Fortnight Congressman Frank Buchanan of Pennsylvania may have to retire as chairman of the committee investigating lobbying. The big corporation lobbies are planning to pour big money into his district to defeat him. It was Congressman Buchanan who recently discovered that the Du Ponts gave thousands of dollars to Merwin K. Hart's hate lobby.

TOP GOP CANDIDATES—More and more Republican leaders are watching Governors Warren of California and Duff of Pennsylvania as the best Republican bets for 1952—for one simple reason. They are two Republicans who know how to win Democratic votes.

URANIUM AT SOUTH POLE—U.S. Ambassador Kirk has cabled from Moscow that 14 Russian ships are leaving for the South Pole to stake out a claim for Russia. Real reason of the trip is to locate uranium. Back in 1930 under a Republican administration, Maryland's Senator Tydings, a Democrat, introduced a resolution urging that the U.S.A. claim the Antarctic on the basis of Admiral Byrd's expedition. The State Department, however, never moved.

BYRD'S NONESSENTIALS—Senator Byrd of Virginia, chairman of the Senate committee on nonessential expenditures, is now investigating mail pay rates. The only trouble is, the same investigation has just been completed by the Senate Post Office committee. Yet exactly the same witnesses are being called by Byrd and the same facts dug up—despite the fact that the purpose of Senator Byrd's committee is to stop duplication in order to save the taxpayer's money. Maybe the committee on non-essential expenditures should investigate itself to see whether it is making a nonessential expenditure.

Impossible Korean Boundary
A lot of people have blamed Roosevelt and Churchill for the impossible 38th parallel by which Korea was divided into two unwieldy Communist and non-Communist parts. Thanks to political ballyhoo the impression has got out that this line was fixed at Yalta.

Actually, however, this was a military decision, made by General MacArthur under circumstances which he could not control.

The line was fixed in 1945 in order to prevent the Red army from moving farther south and taking all of Korea.

It was on Aug. 12, 1945, that the Red army moved into Korea. This was before the 38th parallel was drawn and before Japan surrendered. At that time it looked as if the Reds would sweep over all Korea, after which it would be impossible for the United States to get them out.

Nearest U.S. forces at that time were on Okinawa, 600 miles away, and it was impossible to get U.S. troops to Korea in time to intervene. In fact, they did not get to Korea until September 8.

In order to prevent the Russians from occupying all Korea, therefore, the U.S. Army got an agreement from Russia to fix the 38th parallel as a line south of which the Red army would not penetrate.

By the time American troops arrived in Korea one month later, the Red army actually had moved south of the 38th parallel, but was finally persuaded to move back.

Later the United States started a series of conferences to remove the barrier and make Korea one united country, but Moscow refused. The United Nations also took a try at it and sent a commission to study the situation. Arriving in South Korea in January, 1948, however, the commission was barred from North Korea, and the Soviet commander even refused to accept delivery of a letter suggesting a courtesy call.

NOTE—The U.N. commission prepared for free elections in Southern Korea, in which the Korean people, long denied the right to vote, made an excellent record. Approximately 75 per cent registered, of which more than 95 per cent voted—despite a Communist terror campaign.

No Room For Partisan Politics In The Korean Crisis

By Bruce Blossat

In the Korean struggle as in past crises, most Americans are rallying admirably to the support of their government without hint of partisanship.

Only two Republican lawmakers, Senators Kem of Missouri and Watkins of Utah were sharply critical of President Truman's decision to throw U.S. armed forces against the invading North Koreans. And their opposition stemmed from a belief he should have consulted Congress before acting.

For more obvious reasons the same lack was taken by Vito Marcantonio, the American Labor Party congressman who follows the Communist Party line with precision. The delay of debate is clearly to the advantage of his friends abroad.

On the "pro" side were Senators Taft of Ohio, Knowland of California, Bridges of New Hampshire and many other Republicans who often in the past had bitterly assailed U. S. policy in the Far East.

But Taft combined his support with a demand for the resignation of Secretary of State Acheson, on the ground the President's action was a sweeping reversal of everything Acheson stood for in Asia. He blamed Acheson's policies for precipitating "the danger of war."

Last winter Taft called loudly for U.S. armed defense of Formosa, the island stronghold which represents Nationalist China's last footing. Undoubtedly he had Formosa much in mind when he spoke of "reversal" for Acheson stoutly fought heavy U. S. commitments there. Mr. Truman now has ordered the Navy to protect the island from Communist attack.

But it needs to be pointed out that the former "hands off" policy respecting Formosa was not merely Acheson's. It was concurred in by most top U. S. military strategists, and the President made it his own.

There has been an about-face, yes. But the reversal stems from Mr. Truman himself and embraces all his leaders. To single out Acheson for special censure is unwarranted.

There's little doubt the Korean war has swept away most of the groundwork built up this spring by Senator McCarthy and other Republicans in an effort to prove the Administration inept at foreign affairs. When real hostilities threaten, Americans close ranks and look ahead to meeting their future difficulties together.

Republicans, though they constitute the party of opposition, are no less patriotic than their Democratic brethren. With rare exception, therefore, they will not seek to make political capital out of issues that bear directly on American efforts to solve any crisis that develops.

They should not, however, be enjoined from criticizing their government's conduct of foreign affairs. That is their duty and privilege, so long as their criticism shows awareness that in this current struggle we are trying to snuff out a third world war before it ever starts. That sobering task allows no room for irresponsible excursions into politics.

Why Was He Rejected?

The fashion in which the House-Senate Atomic Committee rejected the nomination of Sumner T. Pike for a new term on the Atomic Energy Commission is hardly to be commended.

Pike was the only member of the original commission still serving. He was acting chairman after the resignation of David Lillenthal. Three commission members urged his confirmation on the ground Pike was needed to help keep A-bomb and H-bomb projects going full tilt.

Yet, in a closed committee session, Pike was turned down. He was opposed by Republicans and one Democratic member of the group, but they have declined to say why in detail. Pike himself said he understood from the newspapers that he has been vaguely charged with "general incompetence."

Chairman Brien McMahon of the committee intends to carry the fight for Pike to the Senate floor. In view of the puzzling way in which this case has been handled, a public airing seems thoroughly justified—assuming no risk to our atomic secrets is involved.

If Pike's rejection stands it means the vital AEC will be without two of its full membership at a critical juncture in U.S. foreign affairs. President Truman has been unable to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Lewis Strauss. The committee's action will not make it easier to find able men willing to serve on this most essential of all federal agencies.

Ps. 1:1; Mat. 2:12-14; Mic. 2:1-2
AN UNCHRISTIAN SOCIAL ORDER

We come now to the thirteenth major enemy of abundant living. An unchristian social order. We have space in this review of the enemies only to touch on the effect of an unchristian social order on the individual—we shall expound it at length later. We must mention it here to get clearly before us the disruptive effects of what many would consider the major enemy.

We are now beginning to see the effect of the social order upon the individual. We will not debate the question of whether heredity or environment has the determinative influence in the life of the individual. Perhaps we shall see in the end that the determinative influence in the life of the individual is the individual's own reaction to what he receives from heredity or environment. For only what you respond to influences you. But the fact must be faced that the individual usually responds to his social heredity and that social heredity then proceeds to change him into its own image. The social heredity has an amazing power to convert the individual for good or ill. Not mechanically, mind you, for we repeat that only that part of your social heredity to which you respond changes you.

The psychoanalysts stress the fact that the cause of maladjustment to life is within the individual, and the Meyer school of psychologists stress the environmental factors as responsible for maladjustment of the individual. Both assumptions are true, for the individual and his environment act and react upon each other. If I had to choose between them, I think I should have to conclude that an unchristian social order produces more thwarted and disrupted lives than any other single cause. A dean of girls in a public school told me that the three major factors in producing problem children are "poverty, broken homes, and a lack of attendance upon Sunday school or church"—all social factors.

The social conscience is being made more acute and sensitive as the facts are coming to the surface.
O Christ, we are beginning to see more clearly Thy righteousness in presenting a new order on earth, the Kingdom of God. We would submit ourselves to that new order and be made into its image. We would yield to its every impulse and thus be responsive to the highest. Amen.

The Doctor Says—
Check Yourself Next Time
You Lunch With a Woman

You can count on one or all of these things happening when two women meet downtown for lunch: meeting for lunch if they don't have one person in common to pick to pieces?

One will arrive late and breathless, full of apologies and explanations of all the last-minute things that went wrong at home or at the office.

They discuss each item on the menu, before deciding what they want to eat.

At least one of them will ask if she can have peas substituted for green beans, or vice versa.

If one is overweight, she'll devote quite a little time to discussing her latest attempt to reduce, before deciding to order pie with whipped cream for dessert. And she'll certainly ease her conscience with: "I really shouldn't—but."

Lunch—With Knife Fork and Ax

If they are working women, some other woman in the office will get a verbal going-over before the dessert arrives. If they are housewives, some other housewife will get the same treatment. After all, what's the point of two women meeting for lunch if they don't have one person in common to pick to pieces?

Though they seem absorbed in their conversation, they'll not be so engrossed that they won't glance up to see how every woman who walks into the restaurant is dressed.

When it comes time for the check there'll be an argument over who is to pay. Chances are they'll end up by each paying her own, or leaving her own tip—but if one wins the argument the other will insist on leaving the tip.

About the time they reach the door one of them will discover that she left a glove or a package and will have to go back for a look.

But still it's fun to meet another woman for lunch.

MURDER LIQUIDATED
Copyright 1946 by Julius Long NEA Service, Inc.

IT WASN'T telling the answers yet and Keever paced the floor almost a solid hour while Sheriff Nelson's deputies rounded up the missing members of the cast.

Keever still thought I was bluffing, but he hoped, for his own sake, not mine, that I'd have an out. If I went over for bribery and murder, the Patterson machine would make such political capital of it that Keever would have to postpone his try for governor.

Colonel Winton was the first to appear. He was filled with resentment at what he called virtual arrest, but he was also filled with a combination of fear and curiosity that made him almost eager. It was probably curiosity that made Sammy Berend submit to an escort of sheriff's deputies. He walked in with a gleam in his eye.

"We asked him about this Hilary dame," said one of the escorting deputies. "He gave us her hotel address, but she wasn't there."

I felt let down. Keever was cycling me severely. I couldn't stall any longer. So I said: "Well, I hate to go on with my alibi without missing, but here it is. Right from the beginning, Too bad Key isn't here to take it down, Boss."

Waring stirred uneasily. "I'm sure I don't know what's detaining my secretary. She told me she would get a cab and come right out."

"She can take Ben's statement later," said Keever. "Go ahead, Ben, and it had better be good!"

I told my story from beginning to end, ending that is when the highway patrol officers had nailed me. When I had finished, Keever said coldly:

"You claim only one alibi witness, Wendy Hilary who's missing. Only one—you say—saw you enter your apartment house. No body saw you leave it. No bus driver or passenger will remember you, even with your cut temple, that McGregor must have given you before he died! As for your car being in a parking lot, you wouldn't have used your own car anyway—you'd have used another."

"Pardon my interruption," said Sammy Berend with a vicious glint in his eyes. "But I was with Miss Hilary all afternoon from the time I left Colonel Winton's office until 5 when I took her to her hotel!"

It was possible that this ambush chaser had lingered long enough in Winton's office to give her time to drive back, but it was more probable that he was getting even for that testimony I had given against him at the time of his disbarment proceedings.

Keever commented: "Whether the Hilary girl was with you or not means nothing. You've no alibi from the time you say she knocked you out. You might have recovered consciousness a minute later."

"But I didn't! And, as for this cut on my temple, you should know that McGregor couldn't have put it there. The absence of powder marks on his face indicates that his murderer fired from a distance."

"Speaking of the murderer, I thought you were going to name him. Unless you meant to name yourself, I don't follow you."

"I'm not through yet, boss. I was in hopes the Hilary girl would be found by this time. I wanted to hear her story so—"

There was a commotion outside. Then Wendy Hilary appeared, escorted by a sheriff's deputy.

"She came here of her own accord, chief," said the deputy. "She wants to see Miss McGregor."

Wendy Hilary walked straight to Sylvia McGregor. If she saw me she gave no sign of it.

"I'm so sorry!" she told Sylvia

McGregor. The two girls went through a hugging act. I noticed that the color was rising in Sammy Berend's face. Then Wendy Hilary said:

"But I've some good news for you! I've just left Sammy Berend's office. Here's all the proof you need!"

She opened that big handbag that I had once dunned and took out a sheaf of papers.

"This will prove that Berend conspired to ruin your father's company, then bribed Colonel Winton to allow all those ridiculous claims in full!"

"What's this?" Keever demanded. "What've you got there?"

Wendy Hilary eyed Keever suspiciously. Sylvia McGregor nodded, and she handed over the documents.

"See for yourself!"

ANYONE could see without examining the documents. Colonel Winton looked as if he was about to have a stroke. Sammy Berend was a greenish yellow.

"I went to school with Sylvia," said Wendy Hilary. "When her father got into a jam, she asked me to come to Capital City and win the confidence of Sammy Berend. It seems that Mr. Berend is even more fond of robbery than he is of blonde. I was making progress, but it was slow and painful work, so after the radio announced Mr. McGregor's death I decided to take drastic action. I got some keys from Sammy and tonight I went through his office. You've got the result."

Keever was listening but hastily scanning the documents. He whistled and turned to Sammy Berend.

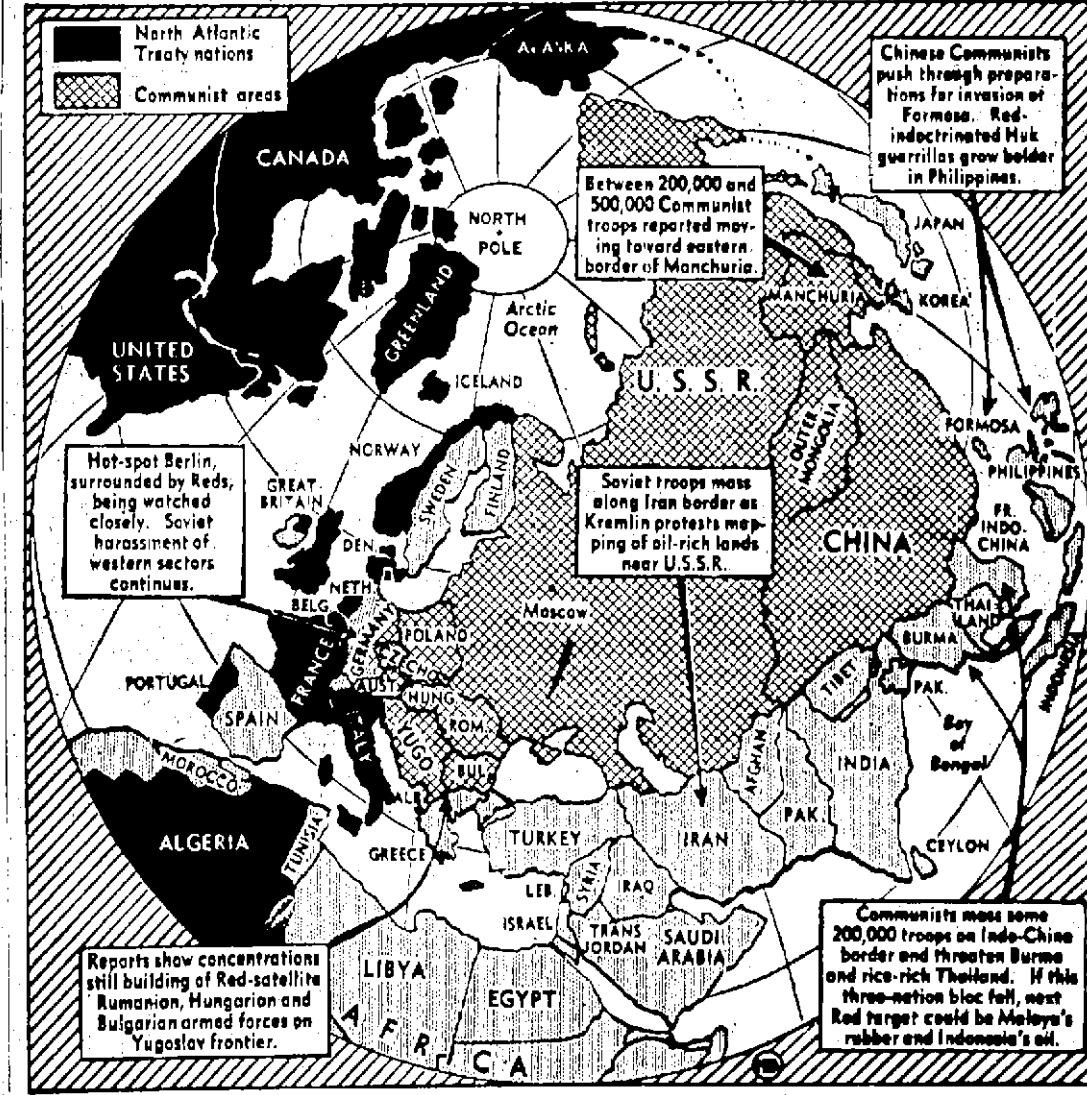

"Well, this takes care of you for life, Sammy! The bar association grievance committee will show you no quarter this time! He turned on Colonel Winton. "As for you, a fine crook you turned out to be!"

Colonel Winton started to stutter, but Sammy Berend snapped him off with:

"Keep your mouth shut, you boob! Don't talk till you've seen a lawyer!"

SPIKING RED GUNS?—Military observers believe Red action in Korea was merely the kick-off item on a Kremlin timetable of conquest for summer and fall. The Newsmag above shows other spots where the Reds have been risking menacing moves all around the vast Soviet-controlled areas. Jittery non-Communist nations, many of them with Reds massed on their borders, wait anxiously to see if U. S. resistance to aggression in Korea will stem the Red tide.

Three Americans In British Open

TROON, Scotland, July 7—(AP)—Three Americans clustered into the final half of the British Open championships yesterday but Dai Rees, a Welshman with a putter that worked like a fairy's wand, led the pack with a two-round score of 71-68—139.

Totals of 148 or less qualified 35 players from all over the world for today's two-hole rounds. The leader after that will take over the crown now worn by South Africa's Bobby Locke.

The 148-dividing line made it possible for Johnny Bulla, the curly-haired Adonis from the Pittsburgh; Jim McHale of Philadelphia; and Frank Stranahan, the British amateur king from Toledo, Ohio, to stay in the fight for the title only one American has won since 1933. That was Sam Snead in 1946.

Bulla strode in with a par 70. That made his total 143—four behind Rees.

Stranahan also had a 70 for a two-day score of 147 while McHale duplicated his 73 of the day before for 149. Only Skinny Arl Clark of Huntington, W. Va., with 74-76—150, failed among the Americans to make tomorrow's field.

Locke, playing with Stranahan, three-putted himself to a 72 that gave him 141 and third place behind Rees. Second went to Bill Branch, ailing English pro, who combined a 69 today with a previous 71 for 140.

Little Interest In U. S. Tennis Players

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7 — (AP) — Louise Brough and Mrs. Margaret duPont won the All-American women's singles semifinals at Wimbledon yesterday but most of the capacity crowd couldn't have cared less.

The spotlight was stolen from the women by the longest doubles match these famous all-England lawn tennis club courts have ever seen—four hours and five minutes during which Rudge Patty and Young Tony Trabert finally overcame Sedgman and Ken McGregor of Australia, 6-4, 31-29, 7-9, 6-2.

As much as possible the crowd deserted the women's arguments on the center court to jam the neighboring court one where the marathon was running.

Miss Brough, the defending champion from Beverly Hills, Calif., scored a surprisingly easy 6-4, 6-3 victory over Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. duPont, American titlist from Wilmington, Del., won quite a struggle from Mrs. Pat Todd, of La Jolla, Calif., 8-6, 4-6, 8-6.

Miss Brough and Mrs. duPont, longtime doubles partners, will battle it out Saturday for the Wimbledon crown for the second successive year. Miss Brough beat her partner last year, 10-8, 1-6, 10-8.

Dempsey Says Fight Game About Through

RICHMOND, Va., July 7 — (AP) —The fight game is through, at least until "some fighters come along who can stimulate it," Jack Dempsey said yesterday.

"I don't know exactly what killed it," the one-time heavyweight champion said. "It must have been a series of events that led to its death—poor fighters, monopolies by promoters and a number of things.

"Boys haven't gone into the game like you might expect. Jobs have been plentiful and living has been too easy. A fighter has to be hungry to fight."

Shirley May Tunes up For Channel

Shirley May France moves easily through the water in a practice session for her try at crossing the English channel. The American girl is making the Channel attempt under the sponsorship of NEA Service, Inc.

Shirley May in 'Dress Rehearsal' Swim of 18 Miles

By Shirley May France
(Copyright, 1950, by NEA Service, Inc.)

DOVER, England — I'm getting ready for my first "dress rehearsal" to swim the English channel.

After ten stiff warm-up swims inside the Dover breakwater, Manager Ted Wormer and Coach Harry Boudakian have decided I am ready for a test outside, in the waters of the channel.

Therefore, on Sunday I'm going to swim from Dover to Ramsgate, a seaside resort 18 miles up the coast. I call it a "dress rehearsal" because this test swim will be almost like the real thing.

I'll even have my pilot, John Burwill, to chart my course just as when I make my attempt to swim from France to England. Coach Boudakian says that he is well pleased with my condition. I am, too. I swam eight miles the other day through a heavy sea and very strong tides.

All my friends have been surprised that I'd even gone out, because it was raining hard and the water was pretty cold — 58 degrees. But I hardly felt the cold and enjoyed the workout. It was work out in a blizzard if I thought it would help me get across that watery enemy of mine!

Bill Irons, who rows for me each day, told me that he thinks I'll make it this year. He says

'Gypsy' Horn Not Guilty In Arson Case

Former M. U. Co-Ed Accused Of Firing A Rooming House

COLUMBIA, Mo., July 7—(P)—A jury last night acquitted Margaret Waters (Gypsy) Horn of charges of setting fire to a University of Missouri student rooming house.

Deliberates Four Hours

The jury deliberated four hours and reported at 8:50 p. m. It was ready to give its verdict. The jury's report was delayed for about an hour until Judge Sam C. Blair could be located. He had gone outside for some fresh air.

Mrs. Horn, a former M. U. co-ed, was accused of setting fire to the rooming house May 14, 1949. The prosecution had asked for a minimum sentence of two years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Horn's attorney, Edwin C. Orr, insisting the state had not proved its circumstantial evidence case, challenged the juror's today to give her a life sentence if they thought her guilty.

There was only one witness this afternoon after Mrs. Horn testified in her own behalf this morning. He was Raymond Fenton, assistant fire chief.

Fire Chief Reports Read

Tom C. Walden was fire chief on May 14, 1949, when Mrs. Horn is accused of setting fire to a University student rooming house. Tuesday Walden was a key witness for the defense, but Judge Blair sustained objections to state efforts to develop in evidence Walden's opinion that the fire was arson.

At Orr's request, Fenton then read into the record two reports by Walden, one of which state the fire was caused by defective wiring, which Orr had contended throughout the trial, and the other that its origin was unknown. On cross-examination Fenton read a third report in which Walden had written that the fire was arson.

Judge Blair pointedly reminded the attorneys that he had not been asked to rule on the admissibility of the third opinion, but Orr said he had no objection.

Four Hurt In Boat Collision

BRANSON, Mo., July 7—(P)—Four persons were injured, none critically, in a head-on speed boat collision on Lake Taneycomo near the powersite dam at the foot of the lake.

Mrs. E. C. Tackett of North Little Rock, Ark., the most seriously injured, is a patient in Skaggs community hospital in Branson. Her husband did not require hospitalization. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver M. N. Bradshaw of Dallas, Tex., suffered bruises and were dismissed from the hospital after treatment.

The two couples were riding in separate boats of the Rockaway Beach Boat Service, operated by H. H. Roby. When the boats collided, a hole was broken below the water line in the hull of the boat in which the Tacketts were riding. x x x Tackett ran the boat ashore and beached it.

The Bradshaw boat was less badly damaged and he took Mr. and Mrs. Tackett to Ozark Beach where first aid was administered and the three injured were taken to Branson in an ambulance.

Seventeen Years Pass Between Graduations

As Bill Bradshaw of Nelson was putting away his cap and gown from the graduation ceremonies at Sweet Springs high school when he shipped a piece of paper in the cap with his name and address and a note telling the finder to drop him a line.

That was seventeen years ago and many a graduation ceremony

Ousted as Spy

American bishop Gerald P. O'Hara (above), last Vatican diplomat in an Iron Curtain country, has been ordered out of Romania as a spy. The Russian satellite charged that the Nunciature, the Vatican's diplomatic mission, was a center of "Anglo-American espionage" against Romania, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. The bishop's two chief aides also were ordered to leave. Bishop O'Hara is from the Savannah-Atlanta, Ga., diocese. (AP Wirephoto) has taken place since, but recently a letter came to Bill. It had been forwarded from his old address at Sweet Springs, from Miss Pior Mont of Santa Cruz, Calif. The note said that Miss Mont was preparing for graduation exercises when she noticed the scrap of paper in the cap and she was now responding to the request of the sender that she should write.

So after many years of not really waiting, for Bill had actually forgotten about the incident, an answer came to a request: made 17 years ago. Bill said of the affair, "If you give time long enough you will finally get results of some sort."

Greenglass Held By Federal Jury

SANTA FE, N. M., July 7—(P)—A federal grand jury Thursday indicted David Greenglass, 28, on charge of conspiring to give atomic secrets to Russia.

In a two-page true bill, the jurors charged the former Los Alamos technician with four specific overt acts. It declared that:

On June 3, 1945, Greenglass met in Albuquerque with Harry Gold.

Greenglass made a sketch of a high explosive lens mold. This reference to a "lens mold" was not explained further, and AEC officials would not comment, saying the "whole subject is classified."

He prepared for Gold a statement of the Los Alamos atomic project.

U. S. Judge Carl A. Hatch of Albuquerque set bail at $100,000—the same amount set for the former army technician after he was arrested June 15 in New York.

Gold has been accused of being an intermediary between the Soviet spy ring and Dr. Klaus Fuchs, imprisoned British scientist who confessed getting atomic secrets for the Russians.

The Brooklyn-born Greenglass served at Los Alamos in 1946. He was arrested in New York June 16.

Nine Die In Freak Wreck

From 50 to 75 Injured in Crack Santa Fe Trains Collision Today

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP)—The Santa Fe Railway reported today that 194 of its employees from Korea because of fighting there, it said, died in the United States have been notified that the evacuees have reached Japan.

These evacuated, with their next of kin as shown in best available state department records, include:

Kelpe, Dexter E.—no name—1208 St. Jefferson City, Missouri; Brown, Ora Ann—Isaac Simon Reynolds, Bolivar, Missouri.

Isadore Littitz, 1085 E. Park Way, Brooklyn, N.Y.

John Hunt Moore, 2650 Otis, Cleveland, Ohio.

V. S. Reynolds, Chicago.

Doyle Brown, U.S. Marine Corps, address unknown.

Mrs. Frank Starr, 1876 Maple street, Pasadena, Calif.

Unidentified woman.

Unidentified woman.

(At the wreck scene De-loreas Keith, 16, of Los Angeles, reported her grandmother, Mrs. Cora Rowllins, Cleveland, O., was killed.)

GALESBURG, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—Two shining Santa Fe streamliners, streaking eastward side by side, collided and tangled today, killing nine passengers.

Coroner Chauncey Wood of Peoria county announced the toll of ten. The number of injured ranged between 50 and 75, some critically.

The wreck occurred early this morning at Monica, Ill., 148 miles southwest of Chicago. Monica is 30 miles from Galesburg.

A mail coach of the El Capitan, extra fare all coach train running between Los Angeles and Chicago, suddenly left the rails and swerved into the Kansas City Chief, a combined Pullman and coach express. This train operates between Kansas City and Chicago.

Both trains were running eastward, toward Chicago, the Kansas City Chief was on the normally westbound track, under automatic train control.

Railroad headquarters in Chicago described this as a normal operating maneuver. The El Capitan has a faster train running time than the Kansas City Chief and is due at its Chicago terminus a half hour earlier. The El Capitan was making its normal daily passing of the Chief, the line said.

Bill Carithers, photographer for the Galesburg Register-Mail, said he went through the wrecked coaches and counted eight dead, four of them in a washroom.

Other checks placed the number of known dead at seven. One was an unidentified woman in a Peoria hospital; four were in the washroom, and Otto Brinkman, Peoria Journal reporter, said he counted bodies of two women in the wreckage. One was badly mangled.

The list of injured ranged between 50 and 75 persons. Some were in critical condition. Others were treated for minor wounds.

About 15 coaches of both the streamline trains were jammed together in the wreckage. Four or five were telescoped and badly wrecked. Some nosed into the soft earth along the right-of-way.

Because of the early hour it was some time before help could reach the wreck scene. Farmers carrying axes came from the neighborhood to chop paths to those trapped in the debris.

The mail coach that led the chain of derailing cars was four or five cars behind the diesel locomotive. Mark Fries of Chillicothe, Ill., who was in charge of the El Capitan mail coach, said the train was traveling normally when "apparently something went wrong under the mail car."

The cars ahead of the wreck—the locomotive and lead coaches of the El Capitan—rolled ahead on the tracks for about a half mile.

The El Capitan left Los Angeles at 1:30 p. m. (PST) July 4, and was due at Dearborn station, Chicago, at 7:15 a. m. (CST) today. The Kansas City Chief left Kansas City at 10 p. m. (CST) last night and was due in Chicago at 7:45 a. m. (CST) today.

Coroner Chauncey Wood of Peoria county, who first announced the toll at ten dead, later revised his figure after a check of codes, some still unidentified by late afternoon.

The number of injured ranged between 50 and 75. Some in hospitals in Galesburg and Peoria were in critical condition. Others were treated at the scene in emergency first aid stations and sent on their way.

The dead consisted of five men, all identified, and four women, three of whom were not positively identified.

Switchmen Call Off Strike On Four Roads

After The President Threatened Drastic Action If Necessary

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP)—The AFL Switchmen's Union called off its strike on four of five western railroads today—eight hours after President Truman threatened drastic action if necessary to end the walkout.

But the union said it will continue its 12 day strike against the 4,000 mile Rock Island system "to learn whether free men in a free country can still bargain with their employers x x x without fear that big government will team up with obnoxious employers."

Continue Against Rock Island. A union spokesman said the Rock Island, which runs from Chicago and connects with west coast lines in New Mexico and Colorado, was paralleled by other rail systems. He said a work stoppage on this line creates an emergency.

The union said its men will go back to work "whenever railroad management wants them" on the Great Northern, Chicago Great Western, Denver, Rio Grande and Western and Western Pacific.

A Rock Island spokesman said the road's president, J. E. Pattison, was "freaked" that the Rock Island should be singled out for continuation of the strike.

Arthur J. Glover, president of the union, announced its action at a news conference.

The union called off its 4,000 members on the five roads June 25. The Rock Island employs 1,500. The other four roads employ 2,500. All the roads except the Great Northern halted operations, and the Great Northern cut its freight and passenger service.

The union demands a 40-hour week with the same pay now received for 48 hours. An emergency Presidential board recommended a 40-hour week and an increase of 18 cents an hour.

Small Minority Control. Mr. Truman said the strike was brought about by a very small minority, and that it had tied up railroad facilities which are needed to move the wheat crop to market and cattle to pasture lands.

He described the membership of the emergency board he named as very able and noted that the National (Railway) Mediation Board had asked the men to return to work while negotiations continued in Chicago. They should have gone back, the President said sternly.

While stating that it would be patriotic to call off the strike, he called the strike a domestic one, without a bearing on the Korean crisis.

Mayor And Councilmen Meet With Firemen

A "closed meeting" was held Tuesday night at Fire Station No. 2, on South Kentucky avenue, by members of the Sedalia Fire Department who had called for the meeting with Mayor Herb Stuber and the eight city councilmen.

The subject of the meeting was not given out publicly, but a reference was made by a reporter who was invited "politely" to leave him to believe the city fire fighters were again seeking a raise in their salaries.

It was noted by passing motorists that "something was going on" by the fact the large ladder truck was parked halfway out of the building and a group of men were sitting in the back as if in conference. It was later learned the council and mayor had been called to the station by the firemen for the meeting.

Councilman John Vandekamp, of the fourth ward, who is touring in Europe, was the only councilman not present.

The meeting began about 8:00 p. m. and ended about 10:00 o'clock.

Rudolph Swope, president of the firemen's union, presided over the meeting. When called about the meeting he told a reporter he had "no comment."

Greenglass Held By Federal Jury

SANTA FE, N. M., July 6.—(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted David Greenglass, 28, on a charge of conspiring to give atomic secrets to Russia.

In a two-page true bill, the jurors charged the former Los Alamos technician with four specific overt acts. It declared that:

On June 3, 1945, Greenglass met in Albuquerque with Harry Gold.

Greenglass made a sketch of a high explosive lens mold. This reference to a "lens mold" was not explained further, and AEC officials would not comment, saying the "whole subject is classified."

He prepared for Gold a statement of the Los Alamos atomic project.

U. S. Judge Carl A. Hatch of Albuquerque set bail at $100,000. The same amount set for the former army technician after he was arrested June 15 in New York.

Gold has been accused of being an intermediary between the Soviet spy ring and Dr. Klaus Fuchs, imprisoned British scientist who confessed getting atomic secrets for the Russians.

The Brooklyn-born Greenglass served at Los Alamos in 1946. He was arrested in New York June 16.

Four Hurt In Boat Collision

BRANSON, Mo., July 6.—(AP)—Four persons were injured, none critically, in a head-on speed boat collision late yesterday on Lake Taneycomo near the powerboat dam at the foot of the lake.

Mrs. E. C. Tackett, of North Little Rock, Ark., the most seriously injured, is a patient in Skaggs community hospital in Branson. Her husband did not require hospitalization. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver M. N. Bradshaw of Dallas, Tex., suffered bruises and were dismissed from the hospital after treatment.

'Gypsy' Horn Not Guilty In Arson Case

Former M. U. Co-Ed Accused Of Firing A Rooming House

COLUMBIA, Mo., July 6.—(AP)—A jury tonight acquitted Margaret Waters (Gypsy) Horn of charges of setting fire to a University of Missouri student rooming house.

Deliberates Four Hours The jury deliberated four hours and reported at 8:30 p. m. It was ready to give its verdict. The jury's report was delayed for about an hour until Judge Sam C. Blair could be located. He had gone outside for some fresh air.

Mrs. Horn, a former M. U. co-ed, was accused of setting fire to the rooming house May 14, 1948.

The prosecution had asked for a minimum sentence of two years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Horn's attorney, Edwin C. Orr, insisting the state had not proved its case, challenged the jury's verdict to give her a life sentence if they thought her guilty.

There was only one witness this afternoon after Mrs. Horn testified on her own behalf this morning. He was Raymond Tanton, assistant fire chief.

Fire Chief Reports Read Tom C. Walden was fire chief on May 14, 1948, when Mrs. Horn was accused of setting fire to a University student rooming house.

Walden was a key witness for the defense, but Judge Blair sustained objections to state efforts to develop in evidence Walden's opinion that the fire was arson.

Today, at Orr's request, Tanton read into the record two reports by Walden, one of which state the fire was caused by defective wiring, which Orr had contended throughout the trial, and the other that its origin was undetermined.

On cross-examination Orr pointed out a third report in which Walden had written that the fire was arson.

Judge Blair pointedly reminded the attorneys that he had not been asked to rule on the admissibility of the third opinion, but Orr said he had no objection.

Loses House And Two Years' Labor

KANSAS CITY, Kas., July 6.—(AP)—Two years of hard labor and all the savings of many years were lost in a fire that left Mr. and Mrs. L. M. O'Neal and their six children homeless yesterday.

Only one chair was saved from the flames.

"I don't know which is harder to lose the house or the two years' accretion," O'Neal said. "I guess we'll have to start again."

U. S. And Red Korea Aerial Losses Tied

Both Sides Report Loss Of 22 Planes In 10 Days Fighting

TOKYO, Friday, July 7.—(AP)—U. S. and North Korean aerial losses were placed at an identical figure of 22 planes each through the U. S. 10 days of the Korean aerial fighting ending yesterday.

This was announced today in a Far East Air Force communique. Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, commander of the Far East Air Force, said in the communique that the time for defense in the aerial operation was at an end.

Cordinated Operations Aerial operations now have passed into a "coordinated air-ground-sea operation by all three services," he said.

More than 1,000 sorties (individual flights) were flown by U. S. aircraft during the 10 days, the communique said.

Half of the American planes were lost in combat. The rest were lost in ground attacks or as the result of operations.

Stratemeyer said Air Force bombers and fighters accounted for 17 North Korean planes. Most of the 17 were destroyed on the ground.

The South Koreans knocked down one and "Navy strikes north of the 38th parallel (the border between North and South Korea) added four more," the communique said.

Ten Confirmed Kills However, Vice Adm. Arthur D. Struble, commander of the U. S. seventh fleet, told a news conference yesterday 10 confirmed kills were made in American and British carrier plane strikes Monday and Tuesday on North Korea.

Associated Press Correspondent O. H. P. King reported from U. S. headquarters in Korea that there was no major North Korean air activity during the night.

Start Bus Strike In Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 6.—(AP)—Oklahoma City bus riders walked and hitched rides home from work this afternoon as the first day of the bus strike ended with no sign of a settlement.

Union employees of the City Bus Co., operators of Oklahoma City's only intra-city bus service, went on strike at 3:30 a. m.

Workers trying to get to their destinations this morning jammed taxis and those with cars stopped to pick up citizens stranded at bus stops.

Thousands who normally ride buses took their cars to work, creating a pressing traffic problem in this city of 242,000. Traffic jams began developing during the afternoon as workers started home.

The company estimated 90,000 persons a day ride buses.

The union wants a 35 cent an hour wage increase but Gordon Malone, union business agent, said he likely would be willing to settle for less but the company has made no effort to negotiate.

The average driver's wage is $1.13 an hour with maintenance employees getting from 87 to $1.26.

In 1946, drivers were out for 15 hours a "continuous meeting" before a new contract was agreed upon.

The union said no picket lines will be established unless the company tries to run buses.

The company said it would not attempt to move buses.

Miss Lindstrom Is Bride Of David Eisenstein

Palms, baskets of yellow and white gladioli and burning white tapers in tall candelabra formed the altar setting in the Fifth Street Methodist church for the marriage of Miss Virginia Marie Lindstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Lindstrom, 1109 South Montauk avenue, and Mr. David Eisenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Eisenstein, 900 West Fifth street, at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 28. The double ring service was read by the Rev. H. U. Campbell, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Stella Price Eisenstein, of Moberly, aunt of the bridegroom, was at the organ and played the nuptial music preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Tom Perrin, contralto, sang "I Love You Truly." "Oh, Promise Me" and as the couple knelt at the close of the service, "The Lord's Prayer." For the professional Mrs. Eisenstein played "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin and as the recessional, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

Just before the bride, and her father, who gave her in marriage, entered the church, the candles were lighted by Mr. Bert Hathaway, one of the ushers.

The bride's gown of white satin and Chantilly lace was fashioned with long bodice which extended below the hips where the lace design was applied on the satin. The lace was applied, also, on the waist to form a yoke and rounded over the shoulders where the design edged the long lace sleeves. The full skirt lengthened into a cathedral train and her finger tip veil, which she wore over her face as she walked down the aisle, was attached to a white crescent shaped cap with orange blossoms. She carried a bride's bouquet of white roses and stephanotis tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Dorrel Lemberg, of St. Louis, roommate of the bride at the University of Missouri, was maid of honor. Her dress of white organdy embroidered with white flowers and green leaves was worn over green taffeta and was banded with green taffeta at the edges. It was styled with double turned down collar, full shirt, tight bodice buttoned down the front and cap sleeves. Her taffeta cap and veil were of green and she carried yellow roses tied with yellow tulle and organdy.

Her yellow taffeta cap, made in spirals of the material, was like that of the maid of honor and her veil was of yellow. She carried a bouquet of gladioli of green tinted with green tulle and organdy. Mrs. Eisenstein's dress was a russet brown sheer with which she wore a cream colored hat, matching gladioli corsage and accessories of brown.

A reception was given at the Sedalia Country Club following the ceremony by the bride's parents at which guests numbered 150.

Yellow and white gladioli and pink roses were used in floral arrangement about the club and a three-tiered wedding cake encircled with stephanotis and ferns centered the bride's table on either side of which were white candles in crystal candelabra.

Correspondent is Reported Captive

NEW YORK, July 6—(P)—The United Press said today it had no word of its Korean war correspondent, Peter Kalischer, other than the Communist radio broadcasts that he was a captive. The United Press also quoted a U.S. Army sergeant who was with Kalischer at the front yesterday shortly before he disappeared.

Sgt. David Sutherland of Kalamazoo, Mich., a member of the U.S. Army Medical Corps, was quoted as saying:

"He was pitching in to help us dig trenches to protect the wounded. The action got heavy and we had to withdraw. One unit was scattered and I lost track of Kalischer, but I thought he was going back with us to the rear."

Hundreds of indignation meetings have been held in the Soviet Union in the last few days. As quoted in the Moscow press, speakers have voiced strong words, but none has suggested war. The general approach is that of a Russian army sergeant quoted today by Red Star:

Reds Claim Destruction Of The 24th Regiment Of The U.S. 44th Div.

(possibly 30,000 to 40,000 men) Their immediate objectives were described as Osan and Pyongtaek, 15 and 25 miles, respectively, South of the fallen airstrip at Suwon.

Reds Overrun Pyongtaek

Associated Press correspondent Tom Lambert reported from the front, however, that the Red invaders already had overrun Pyongtaek and had nosed into Chonan, 14 miles by road farther south and 60 miles south of Seoul.

The Red radio at Seoul claimed Red forces now are 41 miles south of Suwon, a few miles farther than previous American reports placed them.

The voice broadcast heard at Tokyo claimed capture of Pyongtaek at 3 p. m. July 6 (midnight EST).

The Red radio also claimed "destruction" of the 24th regiment of the U. S. 44th division. American forces have not disclosed what units are in action.

No Mention Of Casualties

The communists made no mention of casualties. A field headquarters spokesman, however, placed American losses as running from nominal to "heavy."

There was no indication of the size of the American units, or what might be regarded heavy losses.

Associated Press correspondent O. H. F. King, at Taegon reported unofficially that American dead thus far total twenty. About 80 to 100 have been wounded. King's dispatch apparently referred only to ground casualties and did not take into account air losses in personnel.

Says Just Three Letter Word—War

WASHINGTON, July 6—(P)—Rep. Bentsen (D-Tex.), a World War II veteran, today urged Secretary of Defense Johnson to stop giving out information concerning movements of men and supplies to the Korean war zone.

Bentsen said in a letter to Johnson: "I have heard the Korean battle called a lot of fancy names in the last two weeks, but as far as the GI's in the foxholes of Korea are concerned, and their parents and wives who are back home sweating their out, there is just one three-letter word for it—war."

"It is time we recognize it as such and impose military censorship on troop movements and military plans prior to execution."

No Plans at Present For Guards Call As to Bonus

WASHINGTON, July 6—(P)—President Truman said today there are no present plans to call the National Guard or armed force reserves to duty because of the Korean war.

Mr. Truman also said he has no plans now to seek additional military funds.

The President said he was very happy that Secretary of Defense Johnson, the armed forces secretaries and the "out-cries of state" had decided they would make no speeches during July.

He said he had no dates of his own for speeches, but did not elaborate.

He said he was very happy that the defense establishment was going to devote all its time to work instead of making speeches.

Secretary Johnson announced the "no speeches" decision yesterday. He indicated it was dictated by concern over possible misinterpretation of statements as well as the desire to concentrate on defense department problems.

Mr. Truman told his conference that there were reports the United States was exerting pressure on Cairo for Egypt to line up in the United Nations fight against Communism in the Far East.

The President replied only that he had no knowledge of the report.

Asked when he might expect a report on industrial mobilization, the President said industrial mobilization planning is always up to date.

He would not say when such a report and recommendations might be sent to congress.

Seventeen Years Pass Between Graduations

As Bill Bradshaw of Nelson was putting away his cap and gown from the graduation ceremonies at Sweet Springs high school when he slipped a piece of paper in the cap with his name and address and a note telling the holder to drop him a line.

That was seventeen years ago and many a graduation ceremony has taken place since, but recently a letter came to Bill. It had been forwarded from his old address at Sweet Springs, from Miss Pier Mont of Santa Clause, Calif. The note said that Miss Mont was preparing for graduation exercises when she noticed the scrap of paper in the cap and she was now responding to the request of the sender that she should write.

So after many years of neglectfully waiting, for Bill had actually forgotten about the incident, an answer came to a request made 17 years ago. Bill said of the affair, "if you give time long enough you will finally get results of some sort."

Suggests New 'Bill of Rights'

Rep. Rogers of Florida Proposes It For Draftees

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON, July 6—(P)—A new "bill of rights" for men drafted into the armed forces was suggested today by Rep. Dwight L. Rogers (D-Fla.).

While there have been no indications for 18 months, the draft law which was extended last week for another year would allow the President to order inductions at once in the event the war situation becomes worse.

If such inductions are ordered, Rogers said, he will sponsor legislation to:

- 1. Insure that no inducted men lose their regular life insurance through premium lapses.
- 2. Provide that the government make rent payments when necessary to prevent families of inducted men from being evicted for non-payment of rent.
- 3. Guarantee that inducted men shall not lose homes they are buying through failure to meet mortgage payments.

"The legislation I have in mind," Rogers told newsmen, "would provide that the government take over payment of rents and mortgages and life insurance premiums if the man inducted requests it. The government would make those payments to the landlord, the mortgage holder or the insurance company during the time a man is in service and for six months after he gets out, in order to give him a chance to get back on his feet."

Pay in Form of Loan

The payments made by the government would be in the form of a loan to the inducted man and would be repayable, without interest, after discharge. The time of repayment would be based on length of service.

"I believe it would be reasonable to give a man five years' repayment time for each year of service," Rogers said. "That would spread out the repayment period so as not to make the obligation burdensome. If a man served two years, he would have ten years in which to repay the government advances."

The only cost to the government, Rogers said, would be the interest it would have to pay on money it puts up to meet the obligations of men in service.

"I think," Rogers said, "that something must be done, if the draft is used again, to protect the families of inducted men and to protect their insurance. In many cases a man just can't pay his insurance premiums on his mortgage payments or his rent on the pay he receives while in the military service. During the recent war the families of many men had to give up their homes or move into cheaper quarters in order to make ends meet. A lot of men lost their insurance, which was all they had saved."

Rogers sponsored the G. I. terminal pay bill after World War II. That law provided for payment of accrued leave to enlisted men at the time of their discharge. Previously, only officers received terminal leave pay.

More State Aid to go to The Schools

Funds This Year Are to be Larger Than Ever Before

JEFFERSON CITY, July 6—(P)—Record tax collections will give Missouri schools more state aid this year than they ever had before — more than $41,000,000.

Total state aid to public schools will reach $41,729,536, an increase of $4,557,333 over last year. The figures were compiled today by W. B. McGregor, assistant state budget director, and the state department of education.

State school aid includes $38,707,036, appropriated by the legislature as one-third of the general revenue (tax money), plus $3,022,500, representing one-fourth of a bonanza received as fines in a bus insurance rate case, plus $2,000,000 appropriated by the legislature as an extra amount in re-comb and family, Mr. and Mrs. sponse to please that one-third the J. E. Fry and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Huffman and Finis Huffman, all of Stover, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rehmer and family of Green Ridge.

The first of three allotments to schools from the record state aid fund will be made next month.

The amount available from general revenue is approximately $4,000,000 more than school men expected. Last year the schools got $37,172,143 in state aid.

Source of Revenue

Where did all that extra money come from? Mostly from record collections of sales and income taxes. Officials had feared they might fall off during the fiscal year ended June 30. Instead both climbed to record highs.

Advance estimates were that the state's two per cent retail sales tax would produce only $68,000,000, as compared with $69,360,798 the previous year. Estimated collections soared to $71,743,684, almost $4,000,000 more than expected.

Income tax collections surprised the state's fiscal experts even more. They had expected collections of only $19,000,000, a sharp drop from the previous year's $22,037,169. Instead income tax revenue reached $25,238,729 — over $6,000,000 more than predicted.

Corporation franchise taxes also produced almost a million more than expected. Revenue from this source totaled $2,618,445.

Altogether the officials had expected state tax and license revenue to total $104,581,820. They were short by more than $12,000,000. Actual collections totaled $116,727,469.

Receipts in special funds also exceeded expectations. The estimate was $120,562,800. Actual collections amounted to $131,787,511. Increased federal allotments accounted for much of this boost.

Two Jumps by Bombardier

TOKYO, July 6—(P)—Lt. Harry M. Lister of Topeka, Kas., twice jumped out of his stalled B-26 bomber before he, finally hit the ground.

The first time his controls caught on the seat and the 29-year-old bombardier had to crawl back and release himself, and "bump again."

That started a chain of events like this:

Lister hit the water safely but his life rattled tangled with his parachute and he floated about four hours supported by his life preserver before South Korean fishermen found him.

The Koreans could not ascertain whether he was Russian or American. That caused some bad moments.

Finally the Koreans took him to a village. Policemen eyed him suspiciously. Eventually a Korean colonel cleared him as an American, presented him with silver after dinner coffee cups and sent him by jeep to Pusan, where the mayor and other city officials gave him a hero's welcome.

Action Threat in The Rail Strike

WASHINGTON, July 6—(P)—President Truman threatened today to take drastic action unless switchmen abandon their strike on five major railroads.

He called it an unjustified strike and claimed it upon a small minority of the switchmen.

He said the switchmen declined to abide by the recommendations of a very able presidential fact-finding board.

Mr. Truman told his news conference he hopes drastic action will not be necessary to force the strikers back to their jobs.

But he said he would act if it became necessary. He declined, however, to say what steps might be taken.

About 4,000 members of the AFL switchmen's union are on strike against the Rock Island, the Chicago Great Western, the Denver and Rio Grande Western, the Western Pacific and the Great Northern railroads. They are demanding a 40-hour week with 48 hours pay. A presidential board proposed, instead, giving them the 40 hour week with an 18 cent an hour pay increase.

Government mediators are now working in Chicago in an effort to end the walkout.

Ask Deeper Excise Tax Cut

WASHINGTON, July 6—(P)—Spokesman for 27 industries asked the Senate today to slash excise taxes on furs, jewelry, movie tickets and scores of other items by $2,400,000,000. They said the $1,010,000,000 cut approved by the House is not enough.

The largest cuts could be made, they told the Senate Finance committee, at little or no loss in net income to the Treasury.

Besides, they argued, it would spur business and employment in the excise-taxed industries that have had to lay off workers.

Front in Korea May be a Testing Ground on Weapons

Up to the present there have been no reports from Korea indicating that United States tanks have entered the field to contest enemy armored columns. Presumably this is because there hasn't been time to ship tanks to the front from Japanese bases.

As for the situation in the air, the United States continues with only No. 1 Korean planes and possibly testing of the new American jet equipment probably will be limited.

Might Report on Jets

So far, as is known, the North Korean air force consists of completely second-line aircraft—Russian Yak fighters with propeller power but no jets. However, if they have new Russian jet designs should appear the United States might be compelled to meet the challenge with its latest mono-jet craft.

In addition, at least two new jet anti-aircraft designs have been reported in production. Delivery to the army of one of these—the "Sky-Sweeper"—is slated for next month.

The U. S. also has been employed radar gun sights and aircraft detection equipment.

At sea, the navy may be presumed to be using new and improved models of submarine and aircraft detection equipment.

At sea, the navy may be presumed to be using new and improved models of submarine and aircraft detection equipment.

If Russia openly takes a part in the Korean war, the whole complexion of the "testing ground" atmosphere in the Far East could become a preview of what might be expected on vast scale should the great powers fall into

New York Garment Center Quiet Spot

Enrollment began by a process of his own. He traveled. The west coast contingents—Washington, Oregon and California groups—were among the first to leave.

World of Memories

These boys took home with them a world of memories—President Truman's visit to the encampment, last Friday, the impressive candlelight convocation on Sunday, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's appearance at the Fourth of July and last night's great assembly in the night air.

Dr. Arthur A. Schuch, chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America and national leader, told the boys to carry away from the camp the goal of "world friendship and understanding."

The peace of the world's dependence on world brotherhood, he said. Many of our children's lives abroad have felt the power of the Scout's ideal. Out of the Scout's Koreans are sharing the glow of freedom.

But, through its satellite states, Dr. Schuch added, controls one-third of the population of the world and has outlasted the world's other powers.

Such organization as the Boy Scouts is a top in the world in the combat of the forces of totalitarianism, Dr. Schuch added.

I urge you—the Scouts of the world—to carry every Scout's life to the world's peace.

Chronic Constipation Corrected By Scientific Discovery

At last, after years of research by Medical Men in test after test, UNI-LAX, a new scientific discovery, produced Amazing Results on patients of all ages suffering from the most Chronic Aggravated Constipation.

Recent Tests Prove

UNI-LAX has given many, blessed relief from the agonies of hard constipated matter that scratched their delicate intestines, caused pain and even rupture. Chronic constipation that bloated them up, made them overweight and sapped their vitality.

After a few short days, many of them said they felt like new people. A man who had been constipated for years said he was now having the most satisfactory bowel movement he could remember.

Many people who had been taking "Barrels of Laxatives" (to use their expression) claimed UNI-LAX did them more good than anything they had ever tried.

Other Laxatives

Don't expect UNI-LAX to give you the drastic reaction that does your Stomach in Knots, gives you Cramps and Diarrhea, leaves your colon irritated, exhausted and inflamed. UNI-LAX is so gentle and safe it is recommended for people suffering from Piles, Hemorrhoids, High Blood Pressure and Rectal Irritations. It is also recommended for children, pregnant and nursing mothers.

UNI-LAX is not designed for the temporary emergency relief offered by harsh purgatives. It is a Scientific Formula in a tasteless tablet that melts into a soft jelly when it reaches the intestine. So, because it acts so naturally, it will take from 3 to 5 days to correct your condition.

COLON ILLUSTRATION

ABNORMAL COLON, showing Abnormal Constipation

100% GUARANTEE

Relief is yours for the asking. If you want healthy regularity, ease your struggle for UNI-LAX today. Use it intelligently and it will give you the most satisfactory bowel function you have had in years.

WE GUARANTEE It to be Non-Toxic, Non-Habit Forming and Entirely Harmless.

Lesson In Prayer

A woman lay seriously ill in the charity ward of a large metropolitan hospital. Weak and emaciated and often in pain, she was nevertheless a cheerful and uncomplaining patient. But the most striking thing about her was that she always seemed to be praying.

A nurse, young and attractive, who had grown especially fond of the patient, was perhaps more curious than anyone else why she prayed so much.

Everyone in the ward knew the woman's story. Her husband had died suddenly a few years ago, leaving her to cope alone with the responsibility of raising six small children. The strain of working long hours at night to feed and support her brood had taken inevitable toll. She had collapsed one morning as she bustled about getting the children off to school.

One day the pretty nurse leaned over the patient and asked, quietly: "Why do you pray all the time?" When the woman merely looked at her and smiled, the nurse, stung by sudden pity, cried out impulsively: "What has God ever done for you? He took your husband, didn't He? And He's not helping you very much now, is He—even for the children's sake?"

"The nurse stopped as she saw the quick distress on the patient's face. "Forgive me," she said, "I shouldn't have talked like that. But looking at you lying there—" There was a catch in her voice.

"I know, I know," the woman soothed. "It's just that you don't understand, dear. You see, I've got to keep on praying."

"Of course," the nurse's voice was now softly repentant. "You're worried about the children. You want God to make you well so you can be back with them again."

"It's not just that," the patient answered. "I'm not trying to tell God what to do. I'm asking Him to do what He wants."

The nurse was silent for long seconds. She noticed, as if for the first time, the deep serenity and peace in the woman's eyes. Smiling, she moved closer as the woman spoke again, almost in a whisper.

"You see, my dear. I'm not worrying at all about the children—or myself. I'm asking God to do what He wants, because He's bound to do what is best for us all. All I do when I pray is just remind Him I haven't lost my trust in His love."

What Gave Moses His Greatness?

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Moses stands as the typical liberator and leader, not only of Israel, but of all history. And as such, in siding with a fellow Israelite and leader, though no raelite and killing an Egyptian in shares this particular fame with what might have been a private other, he stands as a law-giver, quarrel, may have been an act of establishing codes and principles impulsiveness and of poor strategy for the overly life and welfare, for it compelled him to escape of men in society.

The first incident is the one that to every child, the babe in the little basket of bulrushes and, discovered by Pharaoh's daughter, the child of affection, and the palace though nursed covertly upon his own mother's milk (Exodus 2:7-10).

Who knows what divine alchemy may have been in that mother's milk? In any case the child, grown man, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter, choosing rather to suffer the affliction of his own people. (Hebrews 11:23-25).

Here was the first indication of true greatness and the first step toward a great career — the setting of principle and devotion to a people and a cause, above self-interest and the alluring life of ease and power in a palace. A selfish man may become powerful, but he can never be truly great. The next step was the prompt ness with which Moses put this devotion to his people into action.

His choice was not one of theory or aloofness, but of definite commitment to a cause. His first act, in siding with a fellow Israelite and leader, though no raelite and killing an Egyptian in shares this particular fame with what might have been a private other, he stands as a law-giver, quarrel, may have been an act of establishing codes and principles impulsiveness and of poor strategy for the overly life and welfare, for it compelled him to escape of men in society.

An element in Moses, not always associated with greatness, but often a mark of greatness in men, was his modesty, his distrust in himself and in his own abilities, that led him to lean upon God, and that gave him strength only in the assurance that God was sending him to his task. What it all led to is well known — the achievement of Moses in freeing his people from bondage, and leading them through the troubled years of the wilderness. Those troubles were due mainly to the lack of faith, vision and courage on the part of so many of the people. What might be possible for a people, if all had the faith, vision and courage of their greatest leaders!

Holy Year Pilgrims Shun Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Roman Catholic Holy Year has brought far fewer pilgrims than expected to the holy land. Religious leaders on the Arab side say one reason is the uneasy truce between the Arabs and the Jews. Pilgrims have stayed away, they say, for fear of complications in crossing the border between Israel and Jordan. Generally unsettled conditions and unavailability of other than the simplest housing accommodations have been among other major reasons.

Church sources say that fewer than 1,000 pilgrims in organized parties have visited Jerusalem since last Christmas—the beginning of the Holy Year. They estimate another 1,000 persons, not necessarily Holy Year pilgrims, have come in small groups of two to five persons. The biggest crowd was at Easter time.

Refugee Widows Get Pensions

NEW DELHI (AP)—Every refugee widow whose husband was killed during the communal riots in Pakistan or who lost her property in Pakistan will get a pension ranging from $5 to $15 monthly. About 2,000 widows so far have been granted pensions and a special committee is examining other applications.

Truman Takes Sen. Johnson To A Task

Accuses Democratic Senator Voting More Often With GOP

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(P)—Pres. Truman Thursday publicly reproached Democratic Senator Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, saying Johnson votes more often with the Republicans than with the Democrats.

At a news conference, the President took Johnson to task for joining G. O. P. senators in voting against Summer T. Pike for another term on the Atomic Energy Commission.

Johnson On Senate Panel
Johnson, a member of the Senate panel of the joint atomic energy committee, joined Republicans in adversely reporting the Pike nomination to the Senate. As chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, he also voted against the nomination of Martin Hutchinson, a Richmond, Virginia, lawyer, to a position on the Federal Trade Commission.

The President said the opposition to Pike was purely political—Republican politics if you please. The Senate will vote on the nomination Monday. Democratic leaders predict Pike will be confirmed.

Johnson was out of town on a South American trip, and was not due back until tonight. Therefore there was no immediate comment from him.

Discusses Nomination
Mr. Truman discussed the Pike nomination at his weekly meeting with the press, during which he also:

1. Said he has no present plans to call reserves or national guard troops to active duty in connection with the battle for South Korea. He expressed confidence the American resistance to the North Korean invaders would work out all right.

2. Demanded an immediate halt to the 12-day old switchmen's strike on five western railroads. He called the strike unjustified, and said the 4,000 workers have an obligation under the Railway Labor Act to return to work at once. This would be a patriotic thing to do, he said, although he labeled the strike a domestic one without a bearing on the Korean crisis.

No Voluntary Announcements
Mr. Truman had no voluntary announcements Thursday. First question dealt with the switchmen's strike. The President said he hopes it will not require drastic action, but he will take steps if necessary. He parried a question whether he might ask for seizure powers.

"Are you still hopeful about the Korean situation?" a reporter asked. Of course, I am, he replied, adding it will work out all right.

Asked when he might expect a report on industrial mobilization plans, he replied these are up to date and he can get them into operation any time. He did not elaborate.

Evacuate Employees Of State Department

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(P)—The state department announced yesterday evacuation of 194 of its employees from Korea because of fighting there. It said next of kin in the United States have been notified that the evacuees have reached Japan.

Those evacuated, with their next of kin as shown in most available state department records, include:

Kelpe, Dexter E.—no name—1208 St. Jefferson City, Missouri.

Couple Married June 24

Miss Cleopatra Gerhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Gerhardt, 229 West Johnson street, and Leo Fisher, 622 South Trinity, Mexico, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Fisher, Bloomington, Ill., were married at midnight, June 24, at Wards Memorial Baptist church in this city. The Rev. L. D. Hardman read the double ring service.

Prisms, cut flowers and candles decorated the altar. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Irene Walker played "At Dawn" by Cadman, and "I Love You Truly" by Grieg, and accompanied Miss Ruth McKenzie of this city and Rev. R. C. Moore of Marshall, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white frost bridal satin styled with fitted bodice, fastened down the back with satin-covered buttons, high neckline and long tapered sleeves. The back was made with bustle effect with full skirt which lengthened into a long aisle-wide train. She wore a finger-tip length veil and carried a white prayerbook on which were lilies of the valley, showered with white satin ribbon.

But he is the real hero of the biggest youth movement in America—Scouting. There are thousands of scoutmasters here to supervise the activities of the 47,000 Boy Scouts attending their second national jamboree.

Some Are Veterans
Some are bronzed and muscled young veterans of World War II. Some are elderly. But I suppose a composite picture of them all would probably produce this typical scoutmaster:

He is short, middle-aged, balding and puffs going up a hill on a hike. He is good natured and long suffering. He either owns a small business or holds a minor executive post in some one else's business. He probably has a kid or two of his own. His Scouts don't pay him much open deference. They torment him often, but they obey him at the right time—and they like him.

He works voluntarily and without pay. He gives up his weekends—and often his vacations—to take a group of other men's boys tramping through the woods to learn the ways of nature. He tries to teach them fellowship, brotherhood, social responsibility—and personal independence and self-reliance.

Able In Many Ways

ing from 11 to 18, this means he must be a mixture of mother, father, older brother, priest, judge, adviser and teacher. That's a lot to ask from a guy who gives his time for nothing.

A balding, sunburned, paunchy man in shorts may look a bit ridiculous plowing through a forest with a pack of agile yapping boys at his heels. He may look like a fussy hen trying to police his wayward chicks.

But he probably knows that, too. The thing is, he also has a feeling of considerable satisfaction that what he is doing is worth while—his fun is in seeing that his boys have some fun and grow up healthy, strong and idealistic. They help him stay young in heart himself.

Key In Informality
It is a pleasant thing at this jamboree to note the wonderful relationship between a good scoutmaster and his troop. The key word is—informality.

For American boys resent being bossed, but do want and accept guidance. They expect their scoutmaster above all to be "a good Joe." And if he is, they may call him by his first name and play pranks on him, but when he says, "Fellows, this is what we have to do"—well they do it. Nobody ever got any real respect from a boy by insisting on being called "sir."

A real scoutmaster bridges that twilight gap between the child and the adult, helps ferry the growing boy safely on the perilous voyage from adolescence to manhood.

And anyone who can do that knows a reward greater than a pay check.

Truman Takes Sen. Johnson To A Task

Couple Married June 24

Miss Cleopatra Gerhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Gerhardt, 220 West Johnson street, and Leo Fisher, 822 South Trinity, Mexico, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Fisher, Bloomington, Ill., were married at midnight, June 24, at Wards Memorial Baptist church in this city. The Rev. L. D. Hardman read the double ring service.

Palms, cut flowers and candles decorated the altar. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Irene Walker played "At Dinning" by Gaden and "I Love You Truly" by Gies. and accompanied Miss Ruth McKenna of this city and Rev. R. C. Moore, of Marshall, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white frosted satin styled with fitted bodice, fastened down the back with satin-covered buttons, high neckline and long tapered sleeves. The back was made with bustle effect with full skirt which lengthened into a long aisle-wide train. She wore a finger-tip length veil and carried a white prayerbook on which were lilies of the valley showered with white satin ribbon.

Miss Neppie E. Gerhardt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore yellow organdie over yellow satin fashioned with fitted bodice and plunging neckline, with mits, hat and shoes of matching shade. She carried blue daisies and baby breath.

Mrs. Minnie Higgins, Columbus, O., matron of honor, wore green organdie over green satin. Bridesmaids were Miss Olive Longdon, of St. Louis, in pink organdie over pink satin, and Miss Geraldyn Jones, in blue organdie over blue satin. All three wore mits, hats and shoes.

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—The average scoutmaster isn't a very heroic looking figure. But he is the real hero of the biggest youth movement in America—Scouting.

There are thousands of scoutmasters here to supervise the activities of the 47,000 Boy Scouts attending their second national jamboree.

Some Are Veterans
Some are bronzed and muscled young veterans of World War II. Some are elderly. But I suppose a composite picture of them all would probably produce this typical scoutmaster:

He is short, middle-aged, balding and puffs going up a hill on a hike. He is good natured and long suffering. He either owns a small business or holds a minor executive post in some one else's business. He probably has a kid or two of his own. His Scouts don't pay him much open deference. They torment him often, but they obey him at the right time—and they like him.

He works voluntarily and without pay. He gives up his weekends—and often his vacations—to take a group of other men's boys tramping through the woods to learn the ways of nature. He tries to teach them fellowship, brotherhood, social responsibility—and personal independence and self-reliance.

Able in Many Ways
Since he works with boys rarely out of town, guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. Dishman, of Mexico, Mo., Mrs. Cecil Knighting, Jamboree, N. Y., Mrs. Warren Cropp, Des Moines, Ia., J. W. Cropp, of Topeka, Kas., Miss Joyce Dickens, Chicago, Ill., Eliza Downing, Kansas City, William Harris, St. Louis, George Carter, and Lewis Mills, Lincoln university, Jefferson City, Miss Olive Longdon, St. Louis, Mrs. Jane Miller, New York City, N.Y., Mrs. Maggie Brown, Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. Anna Leese, Pendleton, S. C.

A LETTER TO DEMOCRATS

Dear Democratic Voters:
Having to walk with a crutch, because of injuries I received when hit by a car in June 1949, it is impossible for me to make a house to house canvass. To see all Democratic voters before the Primary Election, therefore I publish this letter to you, to solicit your support of my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Judge of the Magistrate Court of Pettis County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary, on Tuesday, August 1, 1950.

Your support and vote in the Democratic Primary will be greatly appreciated, and for such action on your part, I thank you a lot in advance. I am a member of the Pettis County Bar, The Missouri Bar, and enrolled in the Federal Court at Kansas City. Hoping to receive your support, I am,

Respectfully,
John W. Barnett.

George Serpas Now Walks With Ease—Hadacol Licked His Neuritis Pains caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in the system!

George Serpas, Sr., who lives at 730 South Genoa Street, New Orleans, Louisiana, is a happy man indeed because he discovered it's now possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of neuritis pains caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in the system.

But let us hear what Mr. Serpas himself has to say about this great new HADACOL everyone is talking about. "I'd been suffering for quite some time with neuritis pains throughout my whole body. My condition became so bad it was necessary for me to give up work. I could hardly walk and suffered great pain."

"After taking HADACOL, the pains left. I am now able to walk with ease. In fact I can now bend over touching the floor with my hands without any pain at all."

"I am able to eat anything and everything. I've taken about twelve bottles (three times daily). I would definitely recommend HADACOL for anyone suffering from such a condition."

Mr. Serpas is indeed a man to be admired. When he was struck down by such dreadful neuritis pains—he didn't give up hope. He did something for himself! He heard about and took this great new HADACOL. And what a different man he is today.

Helps you feel WONDERFUL

HADACOL is not a quick-acting pill which gives symptomatic relief. HADACOL actually relieves the REAL CAUSE of such aches and pains due to these deficiencies in your system. And continued use helps prevent such painful conditions from coming back!

A big improvement is often noticed within a few days' time. You start getting that wonderful, wonderful HADACOL feeling everyone is talking about and you'll want to keep it. And you can if you just take HADACOL faithfully.

Quickly Absorbed by the Blood HADACOL not only feeds deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron ging from 11 to 18, this means he must be a mixture of mother, father, older brother, priest, judge, adviser and teacher. That's a lot to ask from a guy who gives his time for nothing.

A balding, sunburned, paunchy man in sports may look a bit ridiculous plowing through a forest with a pack of agile yapping boys at his heels. He may look like a fussy hen trying to police its wayward chicks.

But he probably knows that too. The thing is, he also has a feeling of considerable satisfaction that what he is doing is worth while—his fun is in seeing that his boys have some fun and grow up healthy, strong and idealistic. They help him stay young in heart himself.

Key in Informality
It is a pleasant thing at this jamboree to note the wonderful relationship between a good scoutmaster and his troop. The key word is—informality.

For American boys resent being bossed, but do want and accept guidance. They expect their scoutmaster above all to be "a good Joe." And if he is, they may call him by his first name and play pranks on him, but when he says, "Follows, this is what we have to do"—well they do it. Nobody ever got any real respect from a boy by insisting on being called "sir."

A real scoutmaster bridges that twilight gap between the child and the adult, helps ferry the growing boy safely on the perilous voyage from adolescence to manhood.

And anyone who can do that knows a reward greater than a pay check.

India May Enact Ancient Laws

NEW DELHI, India—The Fishery laws of Asoka, who ruled India 2,500 years ago, may be adapted for use today. The director of the Zoological Survey of India has recommended reenactment of the laws, which were engraved on a stone pillar during Asoka's reign. The director said the conservation laws were comprehensive and based on biological knowledge of the principal food fishes of India.

A Crushing Victory to Cardinals

Redbirds Open Three Game Series in Pittsburgh Tonight

By the Associated Press
It looked very much like a continuation of the issue of game balling practice when the Cardinals waded into Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati at Sportsman's park in St. Louis last night.

But, as attested by the fact that Red Schoendienst the second batter had struck out the game was on and that power of baseball that bounced back past Blackwell and kept on bouncing past Ed Egan when Blackwell had enough, went to official base hits and the Redbirds were off to a 10-in lead in the first inning. The final count was 13-1.

A hit that started a pitcher named John Hickey took over for the Reds and Linsae the game.

Star of Big Inning
The star of the big inning was Bill Howerton who got two doubles. Percy Caridia, except Schoendienst got at least one hit and Red had the distinction of making two of the first-inning outs.

The victory was the seventh in a string for St. Louis—and the 12th in a row the Birds have won at home sweet home. Tonight they're at Pittsburgh for a three-game set before the All-Star game.

The St. Louis Browns were idle yesterday. They take on the Chicago White Sox in a twilight doubleheader at Sportsman's park tonight.

DeWitt Denies Any Word From Chandler

ST. LOUIS, July 7.—(AP)—William C. DeWitt, president of the St. Louis Browns, denied that he had been approached by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler for discussing the possibility of moving the club from St. Louis.

I have neither talked with Chandler nor heard from him, DeWitt said. I have not heard from him since he left St. Louis.

DeWitt said he had received no word from Chandler since he left St. Louis. He said he had received no word from Chandler since he left St. Louis.

The commissioner was quoted as saying he had been approached by DeWitt, but that he had declined the offer.
